We Love Youngblood Mineral Cosmetics

This season Youngblood has become a favorite product line on the set of “24”. We love the hydrating effect of Minerals in the Mist and the flawless finish obtained with the foundations. Youngblood’s eye shadow shades and long lasting lip glosses are bar none top favorites. As an actor our skin is abused on a daily basis due to long hours on set, harsh lighting, recycled air and constant retouching. Due to the mineral based nature of Youngblood Cosmetics, our skin can breathe leaving our face with a healthy and natural glow. Thank you!

ONLY HUE

Peachy Dream

This universally flattering hue takes to lips, eyes and cheeks for spring.

"Peach has a discreet way of adding just a touch of color to make you appear more energetic and perky after the dramatic, subdued tones of the winter; it's a great segue color," says editor-in-chief makeup artist Brigitte Reiss-Anderson, who tends to Claire Danes, Michelle Pfeiffer. While never appearing too girlish (as its sister, tends to), this dreamy hue lends a warm glow, and as Reiss-Anderson points out, "should appear rubbed on—not too perfect or contoured. I recommend mixing in a little bit of gold to bump up the glow."

According to several spring runways and Reiss-Anderson, the modern way to wear peach is as a monochromatic palette on lips, cheeks and eyes. "It's a very minimal look and really makes lighter pop," she adds. If your client isn't ready to go all-out peach, she also anchors more serious shades, such as taupe and copper, making them more wearable. —Karie L. Frost
